PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO Jan 28 —This morning about 4 o'clock two special officers found a China boy about 13 or 14 years old in a dry goods box on the corner of Front and Sacramento streets in an insensible condition. He was taken to the city prison, and on examination by physicians, a window cord was found twisted around his neck so tightly that it sunk into the flesh. It had escaped the notice of the officers. The boy died shortly afterwards. The body was taken to the morgue and the coroner notified. It is supposed to be a case of private Chinese execution.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 28 —Messrs. Macondray & Co received a telegram from Pr...all & Co to the effect that the treasure of the Japan will be saved.

The Gould & Curry Silver Mining Company has filed its certificate of increase of capital stock from $4 800 000 to $10 800 000. The certificate states that there are no debts or liabilities against the company except the sum of about $37,000.

From Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Jan 26 —The railroads are still inoperative. The Wilmington branch has suffered greater damage than during any previous storm. The track for a considerable ... on this side of Wilmington is under water, but may be repaired so that trains may pass over it by day after to-morrow. The recent gale blew down signs, awnings and fences, and has done some damage to the trees. To-day has been stormy and cold, but storm is apparently broken. The rain gauges show a fall of over four inches. Total for the season 21 18 inches. The Spadra road is damaged east of San Gabriel. The Southern mail left to-day for Anaheim on a hand car. Superintendent Hewitt is doing all that can be done to get the railroads in order. Three men injured by railroads last week are recovering.

BAKERSFIELD Jan 26.—Latest advices from Panamint report the mines developing favorably.

The Panamint News says the Surprise Valley Mill and Water Company are using every exertion to push forward the erection of large reduction works. There has been some delay in freighting. H A Jones, the company's superintendent, left for Sparta a few days ago to expedite the shipping of the company's material.

The News says that from 1,000 to 12,000 pounds of freight is arriving daily exclusive of what is required for stock. The Cerro Gordo Freight and Transportation Company has in its employ over forty oxen and fourteen mule teams. Besides Megeston & Co of San Bernardino have eight teams hauling freight from Sparta to Panamint.

A terrific rainstorm prevailed here to-day and last night. The mountains east and south at daylight were covered with snow. At 1 P M rain set in again with a cold north wind. About a half hour afterward a steady snow storm set in without any sign of abating. A very heavy snowfall is reported south at Tahachapi and Fort Tejon.

Later—5 P M —Over 3½ inches of snow lies in our streets and still snowing hard.

LOS ANGELES Jan 27 —Weather beautiful. If the water continues to recede the road to Wilmington will be in running order by day after to-morrow. Men are working on the Spadra, Anaheim and San Fernando roads and within a few days trains will be making regular time.

SACRAMENTO Jan 27 —A proclamation was issued from the executive office to-day, offering a reward of $2,000 for the arrest and delivery to the sheriff of Monterey county Chavez, one of the lieutenants of Vasquez.

HOLLISTER, Jan 27 —Letters are reported to have been received at Wells Fargo & Co here addressed to citizens from Chavez, a comrade of Vasquez, threatening in case Vasquez is executed to revive the exploits of Joaquin in the surrounding country. The matter has some appearance of a hoax.

LOS ANGELES Jan 28 —Trains are running regularly over the Wilmington road.

The mail from the north arrived this afternoon eight hours behind time.

There has been a slight shower this afternoon, but the weather is now fair.

Engineer Crawford has received orders from San Francisco to prepare plans for a wharf at Truxton 2 700 feet long. This will reach 30 feet of water at low tide.

Superintendent Hewitt has received a dispatch published from Charles Crocker stating that work will be commenced on the San Fernando tunnel immediately. This is generally regarded as a ruse to draw attention from the scheme for changing the route of the Southern Pacific road so it will run through Cajon pass.

SAN DIEGO, Jan 28 —The storm which commenced Sunday evening continued with a strong southeast gale until Tuesday night. The amount of rain that fell was a little over two inches here, but in the interior must have been a great deal more, as all the streams were flooded. The San Diego river is discharging an immense volume of water with a great amount of sand. The San Diego, San Luis and Santa Margarita rivers are all bank full and impassable. The same may be said of the Sweetwater, Otay and Tiajuana rivers east of us. Snow was seen on the mountains directly east of here yesterday morning, the first time in years. The telegraph lines washed away at San Luis Rey on Monday night, and could not be repaired until the waters subsided to-day. The Arizona telegraph lines went down Tuesday between here and Yuma, and up to that time heavy rains are represented all along the line to Tucson and Prescott. The rain coming insures a bountiful harvest. It has cleared up beautifully, and now the wind is in the northwest.

Three men were arrested here Monday on suspicion of having robbed the mail between here and San Luis Rey on the night of the 17th inst. Their examination commenced to-day and was continued until Saturday to obtain witnesses. The evidence is principally circumstantial.

The schooner San Diego returned from Guadaloupe Island yesterday, bringing Col H G Otis, president of Guadaloupe Island Co, who has been exploring the island for the past four or five weeks. He is very enthusiastic over its resources.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 28 —Certificates of the increase of the capital stock of Con Virginia and California Mining Co's were filed in the county clerk's office this afternoon. The capital of each company has been increased from $10 800 000, divided into 108,000 shares, to $54 000 000, divided into 540 000 shares, making an aggregate capital for both mines of $108 000 000, represented by 1 080 000 shares, an increase of just 500 per cent.

NEVADA.

AUSTIN, Jan 27 —The success of the Austin and Battle Mountain railroad bill at Carson created the wildest enthusiasm in this city, and the event is being celebrated by fireworks, bonfires etc.

A Terrible Tragedy.

EUREKA, Jan 28 —From a gentleman named Patterson, who arrived from the Troy district, we learn the particulars of a murderous affray at Blue Eagle Springs. Three men arriving at the station on horseback, leading pack mules carrying cooking utensils and mining tools, determined to remain at the springs the rest of the day. The men said they were bound for Panamint and in endeavoring to reach their destination from Pioche by way of Alida valley had become lost and were bunting the right direction. One of the men named Jarvis commenced a quarrel with his companions. Having got over his Panamint fever he endeavored to persuade the other two to go to another camp. They refusing, he claimed his share of the blankets and provisions. This was also refused. Williams, one of the men, who wished to continue the trip, became offensive, and drawing a revolver challenged Jarvis to fight. The intervention of the third party, whose name is not known, saved blood shed, and after considerable talk all three men were apparently again on good terms. The next morning a man stopping at the station, noticing that the travelers were not preparing to continue their journey, went over to ascertain the cause. Arriving at the camp a horrible sight met his gaze. The unknown man with two frightful cuts on his head and a fearful gash across his face lay dead. Jarvis was still living but had received terrible blows on the head and face with a sharp instrument, and was insensible, but breathing. Williams was nowhere to be found. The animals, part of the provisions and blankets and a revolver of the murdered men were also missing. It is supposed that Williams had arisen during the night, killed (as he thought) both of his partners and then decamped.

COUNSEL IN THE SCANDAL SUIT

A BRILLIANT ARRAY OF LEGAL TALENT—PECULIARITIES OF MANNER.

[From the N Y Graphic.]

It is a grand array of counsel. No less striking than the faces of the distinguished plaintiff and defendants are those of the men to whom they have intrusted the conduct of the suit.

Mr Tilton, at his position at the end of the counsel's table, wears a flushed face and troubled look. Mr Beecher, who is the better actor, appears smiling and confident.

On the bench is Judge Neilson, looking with his broad beardless face and firm set jaws not unlike his lamented distinguished relative, late of the United States supreme court. He seems stern and relentless, but in the conduct of the case has been notably considerate, not only to the counsel but in the courtesies he has extended to the large panel of jurymen and the spectators.

The counsel are ranged in two rows very nearly in their order of prominence on either side of the long table already mentioned. At their head on the side nearest the bench, sits a tall gray haired man. His figure is erect and his face, which is bald and Roman in its contour, derives additional force from his keen gray eyes. When he takes exception to a point, as he frequently does, they have the gleam of polished steel. This is William A Beach. Next to Mr Evarts he is the oldest man at the table. He is the senior counsel for Mr Tilton and will sum up the case for the plaintiff.

William M. Evarts sits opposite. After all, and notwithstanding the number of counsel on each side, it is expected to be a grand duel between these two. There is no trace of humor in his lean, sharply cut features, but his wit is the edge of a razor whetted in oil. His language is accurate and in the turn of every sentence he exhibits his masterly scholarship, just as in the points he raises he shows his comprehensive knowledge of the law. He spoke three days in summing up the case for President Johnson in the great impeachment trial, and is certainly called upon to make a notable effort in this case.

Following Mr Beach in the list of Mr Tilton's advisers is ex-Judge William Fullerton. Judge Fullerton's physical characteristics are shortness, a tendency to corpulency and a flushed face. In debate he is deferential in his phrases, but fearless in assuming his positions. There is a bitter personal antagonism between him and Gen Tracy arising from an old grudge. The latter led the prosecution when he was impeached for misconduct as a Judge upon the Bench. He never has been able to forgive Gen Tracy for his continual references to "this fellow, Fullerton."

Ex Judge John K Porter is the man on the Beecher side who is relied on to win the sympathies of the jurors. He sits easily in his chair just back of William A Evarts, with his long black cloak thrown over the back and appears to be taking no note of what is going on. His close cut crisp black mustache and his red cheeks in an otherwise pale face single him out among the other counsel, although he has not yet spoken.

Gen Roger A Pryor is from the South. Although he earned a wide reputation there, until his connection with this case he has made no signal effort here. Upon the occasions in which he has taken an active part in the examination of jurors he has displayed great force of argument and oratory. When he begins to speak his voice is velvet in its softness and his hands have a plastic movement, as if he were fashioning his argument in the air, but when excited his style approaches that of a camp meeting exhorter. He has a copper colored sharp featured face, beardless and full of nervous action. His straight black hair is like that of an Indian, and a handsome Garibaldi cloak swings loosely from his shoulders as he strides into court.

Gen B F Tracy, of Mr Beecher's counsel, has an iron gray beard cut short, like that of President Grant. His face is serious, and when he smiles it is a bad omen for his opponent. He is sarcastic rather than witty. He sits next to Mr Evarts, with whom he often advises. He is still supposed to retain the confidence of Mr Beecher, notwithstanding his failure to advance his cause in the Proctor Moulton suit.

Ex Judge Samuel B Morris is the confidential friend and adviser of Theodore Tilton. He is a short, stout, pugnacious looking gentleman, with wavy brown hair slightly sprinkled with gray. He argues earnestly, even impetuously, and with a swinging style of gesticulation. He and Mr Shearman—his vis a vis across the table—are the working men on their respective sides. He is at home in the Brooklyn courts, where he has amassed wealth and reputation in criminal practice.

Thomas G Shearman is a little man with thin lips and cold twinkling eyes. He has a long black silky well combed beard which he frequently strokes. When Mr Beecher does not follow Mr Shearman into court it is certain that he will not appear. Mr Shearman does not essay to conduct the defense, but is content to play the scout to grand army. His strength is not apparent in his features or physique. He is always busying with some new suggestion or unexpected motion just at the critical moment. His voice is sharp and has a metallic ring.

Ex Judge Morris' partner, Mr Pearsall, has taken an active part in the case. He is the youngest man retained on either side. His questions in the examination of jurors exhibited legal acumen and extensive local knowledge. Short curly brown hair, a quick eye and nervous movements are his distinguishing characteristics. He is of medium size, but is dwarfed by the contiguity of Mr Tilton, who sits immediately behind him.

John L Hill, of Mr Beecher's counsel, is short and stout, with a low, bulging forehead, searching eyes and puffed cheeks. He distinguished himself in the examination of juryman Mackey yesterday. His mannerisms are of an exaggerated kind. When badgering the unfortunate juryman he would lower his head and look savagely from under his brows, or he would inflate his chest, lay his head back and, with cheeks distended and eyes fixed upon the poor man, would throw his index finger at him whenever a clinching question was put. His place at the table is beside Gen Tracy. He leans lazily back in his chair and while apparently asleep is intent on what is occurring about him.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Oregon City Odd Fellows Hall Association held last week the following persons were elected directors for the ensuing year: J T Apperson, John M Bacon, A J Apperson, S Ackerman and N W Randall.

DON ALFONSO'S REPLY TO ADDRESSES OF THE GRANDEES AND NOBILITY OF SPAIN

The following is the reply of Don Alfonso to the congratulations addressed to him by the grandees and a large part of the nobility of Spain:

I have received from Spain a great number of congratulations upon the anniversary of my birth, and some from countrymen of ours now resident in France. I desire to convey to you—as well as to all those who have congratulated me—the expression of my gratitude and also of my opinions. All who have written to me show themselves equally convinced that only by the re-establishment of the Constitutional Monarchy can the oppression, the uncertainty, and the cruel disturbances experienced by Spain be put an end to. I am told that this is recognized by the majority of our compatriots, and that before long all those who are in good faith will be with me, whatever may have been their political antecedents, understanding that they have to fear no exclusion from a new and unprejudiced monarch or from a system which is imposed to-day precisely because it represents union and peace. I know not when or how nor if this hope is to be realized. I can only say that I will omit nothing to make myself worthy of the difficult mission of re-establishing in our noble country legal order and political liberty at the same time, as concord, if God in His high designs confides it to me. In virtue of the spontaneous and solemn abdication of my august mother I am the sole representative of monarchial right in Spain. This right rests upon the legislation of ages, confirmed by all the precedents of history, and it is indissolubly united to the representative institutions which never ceased to act legally during the thirty five years which passed from the beginning of my mother's reign until I, being still a child, trod with all my family a foreign soil. The nation being now orphaned of all public rights and indefinitely deprived of her liberties, it is natural that she should turn her eyes to her accustomed constitutional right and to those free institutions which neither prevented her from defending her independence in 1812 nor from concluding in 1840 another obstinate civil war. She owed to them many years of constant progress of prosperity, of credit and even of some glory—years which it is not easy to blot out from the memory when there are still so many who have known them. For all these reasons it is doubtless that the hereditary and representative monarchy alone inspires Spain with confidence, since she regards it as the guarantee (for which no substitute can be found) of her rights and interests, from the working classes up to the highest. In the meantime, not only has everything been overthrown which existed in 1867, but everything which it has been attempted to create since then. If facts have abolished the Constitution of 1845, that which was formed in 1869 upon the basis no longer existing of the monarchy has also been abolished by facts. If a Junta of Senators and Deputies, unconstituted by any legal form, decreed the Republic, the only Cortes convoked with the deliberate intention of establishing that system were very soon dissolved by the bayonets of the garrison of Madrid. All political questions are thus pending and even reserved on the part of the present rulers to be freely decided in the future. Fortunately the hereditary and constitutional monarchy possesses in its principles the necessary flexibility and the needful conditions of success for the solution, in conformity with the desires and interests of the nation, of all the problems involved in its re-establishment. Let no one expect me to decide anything hastily or arbitrarily. Without the Cortes, Spanish Princes never transacted serious business in the ancient times of the monarchy, and the most just rule of conduct will not be forgotten by me in the present state of things, and when all Spaniards are already used to parliamentary proceedings. When cases shall arise, it will be easy for a true hearted Prince and a free people to understand each other and to agree upon all the questions which may have to be decided. Nothing do I desire so much as that our country should be truly free. To this the hard lesson of these times must powerfully contribute, a lesson which, if it can be lost upon no one, can be so least of all upon the honest and laborious men of the people who have been victims to perfidious sophistries or of absurd delusions. All that we are witnessing shows us that the greatest and most prosperous nations—where order, liberty and justice are best united—are those which have the greatest respect for their own history. This in truth does not prevent them from observing attentively and following with secure steps the progressive march of civilization. May then Divine Providence grant one day that the Spanish people may be animated to follow these examples. For my part I am indebted to my misfortune for being in contact with the men and things of modern Europe, and if Spain does not obtain a position in it worthy of her history, and at the same time independent and deserving of sympathy, it shall not be my fault, whether now or in the future. Be my fate what it may, I shall not cease to be a true Spaniard, nor, like all my ancestors, a true Catholic, nor as a man of my time truly liberal. Yours etc

ALFONSO DE BORBON

YORKTOWN (Sandhurst) Dec. 1

COMMODORE STOCKWELL

There is a lively curiosity in the public mind to know a little more of the history and antecedents of the now famous Stockwell, President of the Pacific Mail Company at the time it distributed about a million dollars to influence Congress in the granting of an additional half million dollars of subsidy for ten years. The New York Nation casts the following biographical ray of light upon his path way:

One of the most curious and illustrative incidents in the history of the Pacific Mail Company was the rise and fall of Mr Stockwell, sometime President and factotum of the concern. He is the son in law of Howe, the sewing machine inventor, and being possessed of large means, as they say, determined, though without either education or acuteness, to distinguish himself as an operator in the stock market, and for this purpose strange as it may seem got himself made president of a steamboat company. While in this position, however, he paid no attention to the boats what ever and gave his whole mind to the stock, and with such vigor that he impressed what is called "society" with the notion that he was the coming rich man. He accordingly was invited to all the balls, became a sort of leader of fashion, furnished the ladies and dancing men with points, and gradually rose to a very high eminence as a giver and receiver of hospitalities, the ships of the company all the while going to the bottom at intervals. His operations however having all gone wrong and having been more than once caught in his own "corner," society began to let him down with amusing facility. From "Commodore Stockwell," in which capacity he at one time attended banquets, he became Capt Stockwell, then plain Stockwell, and then Stockwell with an opprobrious epithet, and then disappeared altogether to give place to other operators and leaders of fashion. His career in short furnishes a remarkable exemplification both of the way the guiding spirit has destroyed legitimate commercial pride among a large body of our moneyed men and of the way in which plebeians of coarse texture can, with the assistance of the Stock Exchange, suddenly shoot up into positions which formerly were only won by long years of sagacious labor and self denial.

WEDNESDAY, Jan 27, 1875

Case of Johnson, appellant, vs Arrigoni, respondent; argued and submitted.

Humphreys, appellant, vs Taylor, respondent; motion to dismiss appeal submitted.

Simon vs State Treasurer; ordered that a mandate issue.

Ladd & Reed vs Higley; ordered that a mandate issue.

SUICIDE OF A SHIRT MAKER

DEATH OF THE VICTIM OF ONE OF "JOHN PHOENIX'S" MOST FAMOUS JOKES

NEW ORLEANS January 3d 1875 —New Orleans is nothing if not tragical. She revels in sensations. On New Year's Day, B N Moody, a prominent shirt maker and dealer in gents furnishing goods on the corner of Canal and Royal streets, where he has been established for many years, went home. His wife and beautiful daughters were receiving callers. He went up stairs to his room, complaining of feeling unwell. It was evening and the parlors of his house were thronged with callers. Suddenly a pistol shot was heard, and rushing to Moody's chamber his wife and daughter found him lying upon the floor with a bullet through his head. He had stood in front of a mirror and held the muzzle of a revolver to his temple and fired. He died in a few moments. Then there was a sudden mourning and the wailing of a bereaved family succeeded the joyous laughter and delight a few moments previous. Moody was a native of Manchester, England, of Hebrew extraction, and a member of the Unitarian church. In features and appearances he nearly resembled a Jew. He was in affluent circumstances, and to a depression resulting from a threatened softening of the brain his suicide is attributed. Moody was a historical character made such by Lieutenant Derby ("John Phoenix") in his "Squibob Papers." Who that has read those humorous letters, the best of their kind in the language, has failed to laugh? Their wit puts to blush the effusions of many less talented men who have attempted and are now attempting, to palm off their stale jokes as something funny. John Phoenix never wrote anything funnier than his description of his life in this city as it was before the war. Then New Orleans was the home of the planter and the nucleus of a society fit subject of satire. Then Moody was the acknowledged leader among dealers in gentlemen's furnishing goods. Somehow he offended Lieutenant Derby, and the latter in his Squibob Papers took a terrible revenge. It has never been fully explained why he made Moody the victim of his pungent pen, but that he became a victim the following extract from the Papers will explain. Speaking of the annual grand dress balls given at the St. Charles Hotel, for which 3,000 invitations were generally issued, John Phoenix said:

Dancing was impossible; they could not do the schottische; there was not room to pump arms. But it was a glorious spectacle, and as select. I observed among the masses on that gay occasion the curvilinear proboscis of a well known Hebrew, who supports himself and contributes to the happiness of mankind by selling shirts on Canal street. He was enjoying himself greatly in a full flow of the finest spirits, when he suddenly paused in mid career, blenched, and his face assumed a fine expression of humility and confusion.

Looking about for the cause of this appearance I descried my friend Butterfield gazing upon the victim with a highly virtuous and indignant glance.

"What are you looking at the man for?" I said; "you don't know him."

"Don't I?" said Amos, in a vindictive whisper; "but I do though. Sells shirts, sir; sold me a shirt without a ... well," he added in modest confusion, "when I came to examine it I found it was like Halley's comet, or that fox that Æsop tells about after he got out of the trap."

"You don't tell me that!" said I.

"It's so," replied Butterfield, "look here," and pulling me into a corner he drew from the pocket of his vest a crumpled piece of paper, which, thrusting into my hand, he whispered "Read that," and disappeared.

I opened the paper and with some difficulty deciphered the following touching and beautiful

LINES TO A NISRAELITE.

Oh, were we but alone, in some region wild and woody,
I'd like to punch your head, old Shylock Nazareth
 —dy.
A cambric shirt to me you once did make a sale of,
But when I took it home, I found you'd cut the —— off.
Whether to make a cravat or whether to wipe your nose, sir,
I really do not know, but on me you did impose,
 sir.
Like a man without a wife, like a ship without a sail, sir,
The most useless thing in life was that shirt without a —— sir.
I call it ish very good, old Shylock Nazareth—dy,
But I'd like to make you wear it, yes, indeed, sir, would I.

Ever after this Moody was known as the short shirt tail maker. He at one time contemplated challenging Lieutenant Derby on account of the publication of the satire, but the advice of friends prevented a meeting. He was never able to rid himself of the cruel slur put upon him. He was a proud man, and to the day of his death grieved over the wound inflicted by the "Lines to a Nisraelite."

Another joke is told on Moody. When General Butler was in command of the city of New Orleans an honest poor white was coming in on the Jackson Railway. Moody was always an extensive advertiser, and had painted and posted on the fences and telegraph poles:

"Go to Moody's for shirts."

So conspicuous were these signs and so numerous that the honest countryman inquired of a fellow passenger the meaning of these invitations.

"Them's orders, sir," said the passenger.

"Whose orders?"

"General Butler's orders, and you had better obey them."

"But them letters say go to Moody's for shirts, and I have ... Thar's a bag filled with shirts ... to his satchel."

"That don't make any difference. The first thing you do when you get to town, you go to Moody's and buy a shirt. Everybody found on the streets of New Orleans without one of Moody's shirts on is arrested and put in the guard-house."

Straightway ... arrived a countryman was seen ... leaving. An hour later he was seen at Moody's counter bargaining for a shirt.—Cor. Inter-Ocean.

OREGON.

A Dalles pork packer has slaughtered over 500 hogs this season.

A man named Reed, aged about 75 years, died in the county hospital at the Dalles last week.

The deaf mutes in the school at Salem joined in the petitions for commutation of Gerrand's sentence.

In Baker county, the late cold weather caused the loss of quite a number of head of cattle. Stock in good condition would lay down and never get up.

On the Connor Creek ledge, Baker county, fifteen stamps are running constantly on rich ore. Their clean up for the present month will not fall short of $10 000.

The Enterprise says: The price of wheat has advanced in Oregon City from former quotations. The millers are now paying from 72 to 75 cents per bushel, without sacks.

The ice-bound boats reached the basin at Oregon City last Wednesday. The E... brought down the machinery of the Albany, which has been unloaded at the Company's dock.

The Linn County Business Council will meet at the Grand Prairie Grange Hall, next Tuesday, at 10 o'clock A. M. As business of importance is to be transacted, a general attendance is requested.

Mr J P Ward, County Treasurer of Clackamas county, went to Salem last Monday morning with the State tax due from that county. He took with him $10 649 and about $1,000 belonging to the irreducible school fund.

F M Crocket, the county clerk of Umatilla county, having resigned, his place was filled by the appointment of J H Sharon, who, in order to accept the clerkship, resigned the office of county surveyor, which latter position is now filled by the appointment of Mr Moorhouse.

Mr Martin Peterson, of Mound Ranch, Jackson county, writes to the Record under date of the 19th of January as follows: "We have snow on the ground that has been on for six days, but is leaving us now with a little rain. But little grain sown yet, and the prospects are very unfavorable for sowing any for some time."

The Dalles Mountaineer has not heard of much loss of stock yet, probably owing to the dryness of the snow, which prevented a ... crust from forming so that cattle could travel without cutting their feet. It was reported on Monday, that about a $1,000 worth of stock had perished from one band. We hope this was rather a solitary instance.

From various parts of Clackamas county the Enterprise learns that a large amount of potatoes and apples were destroyed by frost. Potatoes were worth from 40 to 50 cents per bushel before the cold weather, and since they have gone up to $1 per bushel. Apples were selling for 37½ cents and now they find ready sale at 50. This may be good for those who have these articles to sell, but it is rough on those who have to buy them.

A postal card to the Spirit, dated January 15th, from Mr H C Durkee, of Baker county, says: "The coldest weather ever experienced since the settlement of Baker county. Thermometer at 6 o'clock A M, 25° below zero. On the 5th inst. it stood at 16° below zero, from which time it has continued cold, ranging from 0° to 12° most of the time. It still continues cold, and cattle are freezing to death. From 10 to 10 inches of snow, but little wind blowing."

The Baker City Democrat of Jan. 20th, says: Yesterday, in the banking house of J W Virtue, we had the pleasure of inspecting the first lot of silver bricks ever run in Oregon, the proceeds of three weeks run of Green & McDonald's five-stamp mill, on rock from Green's discovery. The bricks weighed 41 pounds each, 960 fine in silver and 65 in gold. They keep their mill running day and night, and large shipments will come in every month.

The Sentinel says: "Quite an interest is being manifested by the people of Baker City for the purpose of completing the school building to be used by the Sisters of the Most Holy Names. During the holidays the Catholic ladies of Baker City prepared a ... entertainment for the purpose of increasing the building fund. It was well patronized, and all who attended enjoyed the entertainment prepared for them. The sum realized after deducting expenses was $180."

An Eastern Oregon paper of the 20th says: "Grand Ronde valley contains about sixteen inches of snow on a level. The coldest day known here since the settlement of the valley was that of January 17, 1875, the mercury settling down to 20° below zero. All the branches are frozen up so that the stock cannot get water, and there is now about two hundred head of cattle in this valley belonging to parties in Baker county (E Perkins et al) that will surely perish unless they receive attention soon."

The people of the Dalles, says the Mountaineer, were treated on Monday of last week to a sight not at all common, except in high northern latitudes. The low temperature had the effect to fill the air with particles of frost—regular ice crystals. These decompose light after the manner of a prism, and the ... is similar to the rainbow, only more brilliant, and differing somewhat in form. The appearance, on the occasion mentioned, was that known as "Sun Dogs" or Parhelia. Two patches of bright colors in either side of the sun, in this instance nearly connected by a semi circle of color at the upper part, was a very fine arc as a tangent to the first, i. e. the backs of the arcs so to speak touching each other, one an arc with the sun as the center, the other a smaller arc and turned the other away.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Colonist says the new iron bark Blanche, 500 tons, sailed from London for Victoria about Dec 31st.

The steamer Grappler was purchased by C Morton on Saturday last, for the British Columbia Towing and Transportation Company.

The money order system has been inaugurated at the Nanaimo post office. Orders can now be obtained on England, the Dominion of Canada and the Provinces.

It has transpired that some of the Chinese of Victoria voted three times and one four times at the late election by virtue of road licenses issued in different names, which they presented to the returning officers.

The Nanaimo lighthouse will be built on Entrance Island. The light will be set 40 feet above the base. The tower will be 20 feet square. The dwelling house will contain four rooms. The light will be bright white. The lighthouse to be erected on Behren's Island will be 29 feet from the base of the tower. The light green and the dwelling house will contain four rooms.

A Chicago Tribune's special from Washington of 10th instant says:

Official advices have been received from the City of Mexico confirming telegraph reports of important railroad undertakings in that Republic. A contract was signed between the Government and a New England company on the 5th of December for the construction of a railroad from Mexico to Leon, and on the 12th of December another contract was signed with Edward Lee Plumb, representing the International Railroad Company of Texas, for the construction of road from Leon to the Rio Grande to connect with the International Railroad. This will make it necessary to construct 1 080 miles of railroad in Texas to the City of Mexico.

The Walla Walla Spirit has been told that a good many cattle in that valley have died of exposure and starvation since the beginning of the storm. When the snow came many of those running at large scattered off in quest of food and shelter, and thus their owners not being able to find them in many instances they have perished.

THE TERRITORIES.

Idaho and Boise cities do not seem to have had as cold weather by about 15° as people this side.

FRIDAY MORNING JANUARY 29 1875

THE SHILLY SHALLYERS

Our neighbor of the ring calls it "shilly-shallying" when we declare that the proceedings of Wiltz and the Conservatives of Louisiana were unlawful and unjustifiable, and that the interference of the military in the organization of the Legislature was likewise unjustifiable and unlawful. It is the same kind of 'shilly shallying' that characterized the report of the Congressional committee of Republicans that investigated the case, the same kind that Secretaries Fish and Br[illegible] and Postmaster General Jewell indulged in the same kind that has marked the course of the leading Republican journals of the country, such as the Boston Advertiser, Boston Journal, New York Times, New York Post, and in fact the papers that are sufficiently free from the control of prejudice, and passion to be able to judge fairly in the case and to perceive the excesses of both parties, and sufficiently honest to point out those excesses without stopping to ask what effect it may have on party questions or on the prosperity of the papers themselves. We are not surprised at our neighbor's blindness. It is not the first demonstration it has given of its want of capacity to understand political affairs. We have seen the good and the bad of both parties in Louisiana affairs, and have given credit for the one and exposed the other. The Bulletin has defended one party when in the wrong as well as when in the right, and has denounced the other party with the same indiscriminate recklessness of the facts. It is the organ of a ring, and must obey the ring which speaks through our much-wived Senator of the perturbed mind. Reliability can not be expected of such a paper, of [illegible]; but as the public have already learned to make large allowance for the effect of its trammels, perhaps its misstatements of fact and perversity of opinion will do no harm.

AN INTERESTING WILL CASE

The will of David C Broderick, once U S Senator from California, is contested, and the case is now pending before the Supreme Court of the United States, unless it has been disposed of since the 16th of December. On that day the arguments of counsel were heard by the court. It is appealed from the U S Circuit Court for the District of California. The ground of contest is that the supposed will was not genuine, but was a forgery, imposed through fraud upon the probate court by which it was admitted to probate. After hearing the evidence the Circuit Court sustained the will, and from this decision the appeal is taken. It appears to be admitted by the complainants that purchasers of lands under the will, who acted in good faith and without notice of the fraud, are entitled to protection, but they seek to maintain that most if not all the purchasers did have notice of the fraud and are therefore not entitled to the benefit of the [illegible] protecting the innocent. We do not readily perceive upon what principle of law or equity they would be entitled to protection, even admitting their innocence of all knowledge of the fraud, if the will was a forgery. A forged will is no will, and can not form [illegible] possible link in the chain of title between the decedent and the purchasers. Such a [illegible] on wholly different grounds from a case in which the will is genuine, that is, was actually signed by the [illegible], but the signature was procured by fraudulent means. In this latter case, purchasers in good faith, without notice of the fraud, would be entitled to protection, but not in the former unless we mistake the law.

EDUCATION ON THE COLOR LINE

State Senator Albright has introduced into the Illinois Legislature a bill to repeal the Mixed School Law of that State. The law proposed to be repealed makes it a penal offense for any School Director or Board of Education to exclude any child from the public schools on account of color. Albright's bill provides that it shall be the duty of School Directors to provide separate schools for colored children, with an exception for cases in which a majority of the legal voters of a school district shall decide in favor of mixed schools. In order to meet the case of [illegible] sufficiently settled as to make it impracticable to [illegible] and sustain colored [illegible]

Whenever two or more contiguous school districts are sparsely settled with colored children [illegible]—as to render separate schools for colored children impracticable it shall be the duty of the school officers of such districts to provide a school [illegible] most convenient to the greatest number of colored school children in said district each district contributing to the costs of each school in proportion to the relative number of colored school children it contains [illegible]

That is just equivalent to saying that in all the rural districts of Illinois, where there are comparatively few colored children, a half a county, comprising "two or more districts," may be considered a single district for the purpose of the colored school, with a single school-house out of reach of most of the school children. The bill should be entitled 'an act to enable the State of Illinois to keep up the appearance of guaranteeing civil equality to the colored people while denying it to them in one of its most important points.' The Chicago Tribune says the 'enlightened [illegible] of Democrats are opposed to the bill and oppose it bitterly.' Of course the Republicans oppose it.

TAKE CARE OF HIM

A scamp signing himself "E Stanly" which in all probability is not his true name, on Tuesday night caused a circular to be left at the doors of quite a number of citizens proposing that on receipt of ten dollars through the postoffice and on the applicants signing a printed pledge accompanying the circular binding themselves before God and their own consciences not to reveal the secret to others, he would disclose to them a secret the nature of which we will not define. For just such an offense as the publication of this circular, Dr A M Loryea was indicted and convicted in this city a year or two ago, and the whole community said amen. But Loryea's circular was less offensive than this scoundrel's, as its indecency was not immediately coupled with a scheme of theft. The officers of the law should be sure that this precious rascal gets his deserts.

"We understand," says the Sacramento Union "that official advices have been received from the City of Mexico [illegible] the [illegible] reports of important railroad [illegible] in that Republic. A contract was signed between that government and a New England company on the 5th of December for the construction of a railroad from Mexico to Leon and on the 12th of December another contract was signed, with all the necessary conditions and safeguards with Edward Lee Plumb representing the International Railroad Company of Texas, for the construction of a road from Leon to the Rio Grande, to connect with the International Railroad. This, it is said, will make it necessary to construct 1 060 miles of railroad from Texas to the City of Mexico."

THE BEECHER AND TILTON SCANDAL

NEW YORK, Jan 18.—In the Tilton Beecher trial this morning Moulton's examination was continued. Witness identified his first statement, prepared and submitted to the investigating committee July 15th. He read it to Beecher before sending it to the committee, at witness' house. On the same date "I told him I had been invited to appear before his committee that night and had procured a statement which I read to him, and he thought it was fair and honorable. He told the same thing to my wife. I told him I had read it to Tilton."

Judge Fullerton offered the statement in evidence, urging that it showed facts that were conceded by Beecher and also showed that up to that time Moulton was in Beecher's confidence.

Evarts objected and the court ruled out the statement.

Fullerton took exception and then offered certain portions of the statement in evidence, but the court ruled all out and exceptions were taken.

Witness continued. The Bacon letter had then been published, and was a subject of conversation before this statement was prepared. I said to Beecher that I had recommended that this Bacon letter be used as a basis of reconciliation before going before the committee, and, after reading my statement he concurred in it. I first learned about the committee being appointed July 7th, from Beecher, who said he would have the naming of the members of the committee. I saw Beecher in regard to the statement he was to make before the committee. He read to me from a paper what he was going to say about Tilton and stated that he took great blame to himself for his treatment of Tilton and his family and exonerated Tilton. I said to him that he could do nothing more than tell the committee the truth of the matter. He stated that if Theodore revealed the relations between him and Mrs Tilton it would ruin him and kill Mrs Tilton. Witness subsequently reported to Beecher that Tilton was obdurate, and, at witness' suggestion, Beecher agreed that it would be well to secure an adjournment of the committee. Witness advised Beecher not to make any statement till he could secure Tilton's consent to it. Beecher then drew up a form of such agreement. [Fullerton read the agreement, which was in Beecher's handwriting and was to the effect that the signer, in view of the statements made by Beecher, withdraw his charges in regard to the painful domestic difficulty which should have been privately settled long ago.] Witness said this paper was to be taken to Tilton for him to sign, in view of Beecher's exonerating him from blame. Tilton refused to sign it. Witness asked Beecher if he could not tell the whole truth to Sage, or some other member of the committee. Beecher said that he could not; that it would kill him. Witness asked him of what use his friends were then.

JANUARY 19th

The court room where the Tilton Beecher case progresses was completely filled at an early hour this morning. Moulton and Tilton entered together. Beecher, his wife and son Fred entered soon after, and Mesdames Tilton, Field Shearman and Raymond occupied their accustomed places. The cross examination of Moulton by ex-Judge Porter was continued but nothing of particular interest was elicited. The witness was very closely questioned in relation to his acquaintance with and interview with Victoria Woodhull, which acquaintance appears to have begun in the spring of 1871 and continued until the spring of 1872. He did not hear of Woodhull's card in the World from Tilton before it appeared and did not approve of it. Witness testified that he was at her house a number of times usually in the evening. Never passed a night in her house. Some of their interviews lasted one some two hours. Had made statements to her in regard to the stories against Beecher. Also in regard to Tilton. Never mentioned the name of any lady in connection with Tilton. Never told her he took a pistol to Beecher and demanded Mrs Tilton's letters on pain of instant death. Don't know where Woodhull got the pistol story but know it never occurred. Saw Woodhull twice at Tilton's house. Advised against Tilton's second statement generally called the sworn statement. Suggested no changes in the card published by Beecher in the Brooklyn Eagle in 1873.

Counsel for defense here proposed to show that the witness had been indicted and was sued under a civil suit for statements made by him. The court ruled against the proposition.

After recess Moulton's cross-examination was resumed. The reply to Beecher's letter asking for the documents was written in witness' study, August 5th. Did not remember who wrote it, but he signed it.

January 19th

Moulton's cross-examination in the Beecher case sensibly damages him. On direct examination his answers were prompt, clear, unconditional and emphatic, now he hesitates, repeats nearly every inquiry, as if to gain time and prevaricates when not sure as to the counsel's purpose and aim. It was with masterly style that Porter led him to an unforeseen climax by numerous apparently harmless inquiries, whereby Moulton answered affirmatively the following:

"The inception of your friendship for the Rev Henry Ward Beecher was on that stormy night when you heard that he debauched your friend's wife, and its terminus was at the time when you refused him access to the letters by which he wished to defend himself against the foul charges?"

The effect of this answer arouses in full vigor all the doubts of trustworthiness excited at the time of the newspaper controversy. Again counsel referring to August last asked:

"Were you the mutual friend of both these men at this time?"

"As friendly to one as to the other" he replied.

"Had Beecher ever wronged you?"

"Except when he asked me to lie for him," Moulton replied.

"Did you lie for him?"

"Yes."

"We have your word for it," said ex Judge Porter, with freezing sarcasm.

Mrs. Tilton's presence in court daily is claimed by the defense to be necessary, as she is able frequently to give valuable information, for instance regarding documents introduced. She is escorted by Ovington and accompanied by the wife of Rossiter W Raymond and other ladies. Her face expresses weariness. She clearly and sensitively shrinks from the ordeal but her attendance she considers a duty.

After recess counsel for the prosecution introduced Mrs Tilton's letter about the statement made to Beecher. This closed the direct examination.

SOUND AND SENSIBLE.

The Chicago Tribune makes these sensible remarks concerning Gen Sheridan's famous telegram:

Gen Sheridan's dispatch to the Secretary of War, suggesting a means of quieting the Southern people, will excite amusement rather than dismay at the North. The general has been too much accustomed to the rough usages of military jurisprudence to understand the delicate and complex questions which are presented in the South. He only sees that there are about him a number of organizations lawless in fact but not in name; that he has a force sufficient to subdue them; and that the immediate effect of doing so would be increased security to life and property. So he asks the President, or Congress, to declare that the White Leaguers are banditti, and to provide for their trial by military courts. He says that if such a declaration were made no further action need be taken except that which would devolve upon him. In spite of the assurances which the general makes, his expedient is very objectionable so much so indeed that it will not be entertained for a moment and a discussion of it is not worth the while. It is contrary to the whole spirit of our institutions that martial law [illegible] be declared in several States of the Union in a time of peace, and [illegible] the [illegible] ally pro[illegible]

[illegible] COLUMBIA RIVER.—Mr. Ad. Edgar ar[illegible] in this city yesterday about 11 o'clock [illegible] the Cascades with the Dalles mail. He [illegible] the trip to the Upper Cascades and back [illegible] over two days. Mr. Edgar reports [illegible] the ice on the Columbia [illegible] thick and [illegible] and shows no indications of [illegible] On the contrary during the [illegible] it seems to increase [illegible] day. He traveled over the ice both in [illegible] and going, nearly all the way. From [illegible] of the Sandy to [illegible] miles [illegible] the Cascades, he reports the ice unbroken [illegible] enough to admit of the passage of a [illegible] and a heavily loaded wagon. [illegible] the Upper C[illegible] and the Dalles [illegible] is just [illegible] the same. Mr. Edgar [illegible] homeback [illegible]. He will start back [illegible] the mail this morning, and it is his in[illegible] to go through to the Dalles.

[illegible] FROZEN.—On Wednesday a lad aged [illegible] 16 years, was brought into the city with [illegible] badly frozen and removed to the [illegible] hospital where he is now. This un[illegible] youth resided near the Sandy. Some [illegible] he came to this country and with [illegible] there settled on a piece of land [illegible] a small cabin on the side of a hill [illegible] to clear away the land. One night [illegible] cold weather there came a [illegible] and blew down the frail cabin. Ex[illegible] storm and bitter cold the [illegible] started to walk to East Portland [illegible] that the youngest of the party [illegible] before reaching his journey's [illegible] removed to the hospital it [illegible] to amputate a portion of [illegible] rendering the poor boy a crip[illegible]

[illegible] MACHINE SHOP.—Work on the build[illegible] the new machine shop in Albina is [illegible]. During the past cold [illegible] was temporarily suspended in [illegible] of the scarcity of lumber, but [illegible] carpenters are now busily on [illegible] frame for the building is [illegible] roof floors and siding will [illegible]. As soon as ready the [illegible] boiler, engine, etc., which have [illegible] in the building belonging to [illegible] Iron Works Company, will be [illegible] new machine shop. Within [illegible] date it is hoped that the new [illegible] in full blast. Connected with [illegible] will be a large and com[illegible]

[illegible] PURIFICATION.—From the Pastoral [illegible] next Tuesday the Catholic [illegible] the Feast of Purification [illegible] commonly called [illegible]. This [illegible] is observed in [illegible] of the [illegible] tation of our [illegible]. It was ordained [illegible] law, that all first born male [illegible] be offered in the Temple, and [illegible] the [illegible] yet [illegible] Redeemer and his Immaculate [illegible] the Mosaic rite, in order that [illegible] be given to people who [illegible] of the fact of their exemption [illegible] of the law. High Mass [illegible] in the Cathedral at 9 o'clock.

[illegible] A few days since a [illegible] was cast at the Willamet Iron [illegible] will be employed in driving a new [illegible] we learn is soon to be built by [illegible]. The propeller is about [illegible] and has three wings. The [illegible] on board the little tug Wasp [illegible] and a new engine of the [illegible] and [illegible] and both are [illegible] in propelling the craft. Boiler [illegible] of proportionate dimensions [illegible] made. The intention is to have a [illegible] the power of the Wasp. Work on [illegible] to be commenced, and the new [illegible] be ready for service early in the [illegible]

[illegible] FAIR.—Commencing on the 15th of [illegible] and continuing for five days will be [illegible] fair for the benefit of the Beth Israel [illegible]. This fair will be given under the [illegible] of the ladies of that congregation at [illegible] Harmonic Hall. The event will conclude [illegible] vocal and instrumental concert to be [illegible] at Masonic Hall on Tuesday evening, [illegible] of which will be [illegible] to the fund realized by the fair. Excel[illegible] music will be furnished each evening [illegible] the continuance of the fair. Numerous [illegible] are to be offered, all of which will [illegible] to make it one of the most su[illegible] of the kind ever given in Portland.

WHO WAS SOLD? Says the Oregon City En[illegible]: "Some one sold the local of the [illegible] with a story that the ice on the upper [illegible] of fifty feet at [illegible]. Twas was [illegible] so, but it [illegible] of perpendicular." Ac[illegible] the down street cotemporary [illegible] of getting it correct. We [illegible] little unkind of the Enterprise to [illegible] the circumstance, especially when [illegible] aforesaid seldom comes that [illegible] commendation and encour[illegible]

[illegible] FESTIVAL.—The festival advertised [illegible] this evening is of a novel char[illegible] feature being the display [illegible] in various fantastic forms to please [illegible] the palate. The entertainment is [illegible] the management of the young [illegible] Unitarian church who have or[illegible] society called the "Active Circle," [illegible] their mite towards the fund for [illegible] church. Music, readings and [illegible] will add to the pleasure of the [illegible]

[illegible].—Mr. E. M. Burton, the archi[illegible] at present engaged in preparing plans [illegible] new brick building which will be [illegible] the coming spring by Mr. Ira [illegible] at the corner of First and Morri[illegible]. The building will be two stories [illegible] feet. The front of the first story [illegible] iron, that of the second, brick. The [illegible] will soon be let and the work of re[illegible] the old wooden tenement and exca[illegible] to begin shortly.

[illegible].—During the forenoon of yes[illegible] a large drift of logs and ice passed [illegible] the river. The whole seemed to be a [illegible] and doubtless drifted out from [illegible] of one of the numerous tributaries [illegible] Wallamet, or from some bend well pro[illegible] from the current of the stream. How[illegible] could scarcely have come from above [illegible] falls, or it would have been dashed to [illegible]. Steamboats took care to give the mass [illegible] berth.

[illegible] CAST.—Since the bursting of the [illegible] on board the steamer Sc[illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] several model makers have been [illegible] engaged at the Willamet Iron Works [illegible] the model was completed and to [illegible] cylinder will be cast. It will be [illegible] as rapidly as possible so that the [illegible] may be able to run at the earliest [illegible] day.

[illegible]. The present term of the Port[illegible] Academy under the charge of Rev. T. F. [illegible] to-day. Written [illegible] were held yesterday and will be contin[illegible] to-day [illegible] expected [illegible] at 2 o'clock. The third term [illegible] on Monday next, February [illegible]

[illegible] THE ICE.—[illegible] our last issue the ice which has for so many days held the river in its icy grasp, has almost entirely dis[illegible]. About 7 o'clock yesterday morning the whole body of the ice began to move. The motion of the current soon broke it up into fragments, when the pieces floated away and before noon little was to be seen. During most of the day small pieces of ice were floating by on the current. As soon as the ice between the foot of Ross' Island and Stark street was gone the steamers Willamette Chief and Gov. Grover, which have been lying on the east side came over to the wharf at the foot of Alder street.

NONE ARE SO BLIND, ETC.—This remarkably truthful (?) paragraph occurs in the Tacoma Tribune of a recent date: "The cold has been severe at Portland, though the papers there have been careful not to place its degree on record." We are utterly at a loss to determine whether the above should be attributed to un[illegible]pardonable stupidity or a willful desire to mis[illegible]represent. Any person who peruses the ORE[illegible]GONIAN knows that we publish daily the weather report obtained from the United States signal officer.

ASSIGNED.—Rev. Father Orth, who for some time has been stationed at Umatilla Reservation, has been assigned to Camp Harney. Father Orth acquired the Indian language in about three months, and used to preach to them without the aid of an interpreter.

FROM ASTORIA.

ANOTHER PARTY THROUGH BY THE MILITARY TRAIL.

Mr. Allen Parker, Mr. A. McKinstry and S. P. Cooper, arrived yesterday from Astoria, having come over the military trail. They left Astoria last Saturday morning, coming as far as the Klaskanine in Capt. Hustler's little steam launch Kalata. From that point they traveled on foot to Nehalem where they arrived Sunday night, tired and foot sore. Here they lay over one day to procure horses, which having done they were enabled to ride part of the time for the rest of the journey. They reached the Gale's creek settlement Tuesday night, or rather, at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, and secured conveyance thence to Forest Grove, where they arrived just in time to be too late for the Portland stage. Re[illegible] at the Grove over night the party came down by yesterday morning's train. They report no snow at Astoria. They found a little snow on the first ridge this side the [illegible], which increased as they went further up the mountain, till at the summit of the Saddle mountain pass it was a foot deep. On the trail between Nehalem river and Gale's creek, the snow lay three feet deep. The mail sent by Postal Agent Underwood, reached Nehalem about 1:20 o'clock Monday night, being carried on six pack horses. It probably reached Astoria by Wednesday noon.

The steamer passengers and others who are ice-bound at Astoria are of course [illegible] comfortably, but are becoming [illegible] impatient. The tug goes up from Astoria from time to time to reconnoitre the ice-fields and gorges, but at the time the party left there appeared no prospect of an early breaking up. The ice is reported ten feet thick in places where it has gorged and [illegible] together.

This party had a pretty hard trip, but are all well and feeling little the worse for the wear, except that Mr. Cooper got one of his toes slightly frozen.

RIVER NOTES.

Yesterday afternoon the steamers Willamette Chief and Gov. Grover started up the Wallamet.

During the cold weather the O. S. N. Co.'s boats have been lying at the mouth of the slough. As the ice is gone, they will probably be brought up to-day.

This morning the tug Ben Holladay will start down the river. If the slough is open the tug will proceed down, and bring up the ship Muriel, which lies above St. Helens.

Two gentlemen who came from down the river inform us that the ice is yet solid along the slough. That was at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. It is quite likely that ere this time the ice has given away.

Yesterday the schooner Hera was taking on board cargo at the O. S. N. Co.'s dock. To-day she will complete her load and will be in readiness to proceed down the river at the first favorable opportunity.

[illegible] the ice gave way here the [illegible] Beaver, which has been above the falls during the present cold weather came down through the locks. She reports the upper river free from ice. In the afternoon the steamer Wel[illegible]come came down with a full cargo.

The tremendous gorge of ice at Rock Island above Oregon City, broke loose on Wednesday morning. The immense [illegible] of ice backed the water up for a considerable distance to a height of seven feet, and when the gorge gave way the water [illegible] came down with a roar and crash that made everything tremble. By the time the ice came down over the falls it was reduced to a mush like consistency.

AMUSEMENTS.

MR. WOOD'S BENEFIT.—The benefit tendered Mr. T. A. Wood this evening at Museum Hall by the members of Peerless Lodge I. O. G. T. promises to be a success. "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" was produced last night in splendid style to a large audience. All who attended speak in unqualified praise of the performance. To-night on the occasion of the benefit, we trust the manager will have crowded house.

THE BENEFIT.—After several weeks of studious and careful preparation and numerous rehearsals the beautiful drama of "Rosedale, or the [illegible]" will be produced this evening at Oro Fino Theater under the auspices of the Hesperian Dramatic Association. As is well known the drama will be presented on the occasion of the complimentary benefit tendered jointly to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulford, than whom few actors are better or more favorably known to the public. Much care has been bestowed on all the minor details of the play, and there is every [illegible] to predict its production in [illegible] style, and with all the scenic effects. Most of the seats have already been sold and a [illegible] house is assured.

THE WEATHER.

East of the Cascades the weather was as follows last evening:

Walla Walla—Clear, thermometer 21°
Wallula—Weather clear, thermometer 16°
Dalles—Clear, thermometer 20°
Umatilla—Clear, thermometer 20°
Cascades—Clear, thermometer 28°

The weather last evening at 6:30 was as follows at the places named:

Roseburg—Cool and clear, with a chance of a heavy frost to-night.
Albany—Cloudy and cool this evening, wind north, river clear of ice.
Salem—Clear and cloudy, wind in the west, mild during the day, but will freeze to-night.

Ex re C. B. Comstock—hearing on motion to strike out objections to discharge continued until to-morrow.

Adjourned until to-morrow.

PERSONAL.

After a most protracted and critical spell of sickness Hon. Joseph N. Dolph is again able to appear on the streets. Mr. Charles P[illegible]kins has also sufficiently recovered to be able to walk about.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

River open.

River is rising fast.

Plenty of amusements now.

Yesterday the ferryboat began to run again.

The funeral of the late Robert J. Ladd will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock, from the residence of Joseph Knott.

The meeting at the Taylor street M. E. church on Tuesday afternoon last, for the promotion of entire holiness, was quite largely attended.

On Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock a children's meeting will be held in the Presbyterian church. This will probably prove as interesting as any meeting of the series now in progress.

A meeting will be held on Saturday evening at the Taylor street M. E. church commencing at 7 o'clock. It will be exclusively for the young people of the city, all of whom are cordially invited to attend.

The funeral of Francis M., son of F. F. and P. M. Robinson, will take place this morning at 10 o'clock from the residence of his parents, corner of Market and Eighth streets. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

MILITARY NOTES.

The following notes we glean from the Sp[illegible]t of the West:

The enlisted men had a ball in the reading room last week, but the excessive cold nearly froze them out.

The Infantry companies are to have bronzed guns very soon, perhaps by the first boat from Vancouver.

A general court martial was convened at the garrison last week by command of Brigadier General Howard. Lieut. Bomus was judge advocate.

Several enlisted men at the garrison have been unfortunate enough to have their ears and fingers frozen while on duty. The sentinels had to be relieved every hour during the extreme cold nights of last week.

The cold weather did not hinder three privates from [illegible] a few days since. However, two returned, and were content to undergo the punishment [illegible] rather than freeze.

William R. Hoag, 2d Lieutenant, Company I, 21st Infantry, died at the garrison on Saturday last about noon. Deceased was a graduate of the Military Academy, West Point, N. Y., and was [illegible] from that institution to the 21st Infantry. He graduated high in the literary and military programme of the academy, and we believe, were there vacancies in the engineers he would have been detailed to serve in that branch of the service. He was a class fellow with Lieutenant Bomus and Col. Fred. Grant, son of General U. S. Grant. The deceased was only 27 years of age.

The people of Klamath county, California, represented to the Secretary of War that the mouth of the Klamath river is in possession of the Indians, and that there is no ferry or passage across except by means of their canoes, and that sometimes Indians rob travelers when they are in the midst of the stream. The part of the river in the hands of the Indians is also a direct route for the United States mail, and the settlers request that a military post shall be established there for the protection of each and all them. It is more than probable the prayer of the memorialists will be acceded to.

A CARD.

"ALL IN THE FAMILY."

Some ten days ago William H. Watkinds and wife conveyed and transferred William's property to William's nephew, and thereupon William's nephew conveyed and delivered the same to William's wife, and since then the [illegible] slumbers have been more [illegible] and his dreams more pleasant under the impression that libel suits may proceed to judgment with safety to the family po[illegible]sions. Vain labor—delusive dream—inclement weather—thin raiment."

The above item is made up from a similar notice in the Statesman some time since, and was published in the Portland Bulletin for the purpose of prejudicing the community in the matter of the slander suit now pending between Mr. Dolph and myself. In answer I will state that I own an equal interest in $20,000 worth of property in the city of Salem; that I do not owe individually a dollar in Oregon, and that I have $500 to put up in Ladd & Tilton's bank that Mr. Dolph will not get a judgment against me of $100, and that I will pay every dollar that he does get such judgment for.

If the editor of the Bulletin, Gaston, who kept his property (situate in the city of Salem, block 60, lot 6) in his wife's name and who owed myself and others money for a long time which we could not get for this reason, has any fears that I cannot satisfy any judgment, the president of his printing company may get he has this opportunity of making $500.

Salem, Jan. 28, 1875.

One of the ablest journals of this or any other country thus defines the position and field of the newspaper of the period:

The newspaper has come to be something more than an organ, because the reading and thinking public demand something more. The great newspapers of the country will undoubtedly give a support to one or the other of the great parties of the times, because to all independent minds the principles of one party must always be preferred to the other, unless both have substantially agreed upon the same platform, when there are nothing but names left to indicate division.

The winter is fairly upon us. We must keep warm no matter what the cost. Don't go about like a frozen man, but straighten up and boldly enter the establishment of BECK & WALDMAN and ask them to show you those heavy winter goods. They'll do it, and what's more, will not [illegible] you with big prices because of the cold weather. On the contrary, they propose to make their patrons happy by clothing them well and at the same time charging a low price to suit the present time. Don't wait until it is too late, but go now.

If you would keep warm buy yourself a big Overcoat, Gloves, and last but not least good Underclothing, all of which KOHN opposite the National Bank keeps in large quantities. You can be suited without a doubt. In addition to this he has a fine assortment of Dress Suits, Furnishing Goods. The prices are down—like the thermometer is just now. Don't wait until the winter is over and be in misery, but buy now while the prices are down.

VANCOUVER ITEMS.

Remember Mr. and Mrs. Fulford's benefit this evening.

The public schools are now closed for want of funds to carry them on.

The Good Templars are prospering, new members being admitted at nearly every meeting.

The spring term of St. Luke's parish school, Miss A. Loomis principal, commences next Wednesday under very favorable prospects.

Mrs. Cook, mother of the Hon. A. G. Cook, recently fell on the ice and severely injured her arm. Such accidents are becoming very common.

The condition of the ice in the Columbia remains about the same as last week. If there is any change it is growing firmer and smoother, furnishing better skating for the boys.

From the country we learn that much of the snow in the wheat fields has disappeared, leaving the grain exposed to the frosts by night and sun by day. The continual freezing and thawing is injuring the grain, and should this weather continue much longer much of the ground will have to be resown.

The grangers of this place, representing the chief element of enterprise here, are not only in a prosperous condition, but we learn are making arrangements for extensive improvements in the spring. It is fortunate that a way has been provided for harmonizing a portion of our business men so that they can work together and aid in improving this long neglected town. We shall look for busy times in the spring.

EDITOR'S WORK.

The Cincinnati Gazette thus discourses on a subject which a good many people similarly situated will appreciate:

Not all who visit editorial rooms are intruders or bores, but a great many are, and these are so numerous that all visitors are looked upon with some degree of suspicion until their business becomes known. It is never pleasant to be interrupted in editorial work. It has a tendency to make men cross. There is a pressure upon editors. They work nearly all the time under a pressure. Often their [illegible] do not flow freely, and when they are not pleasing themselves they are not in a mood to spend much time upon those who interrupt them. We suppose it is safe to say that three fourths of those who call to see the editor have no business properly with that individual. Often they do not know him personally, and in order to find him they interrupt half a dozen men who have important work to do and only a limited time to do it in. Then, if they receive short answers, they feel aggrieved and talk about impolite treatment. The editorial rooms of a newspaper establishment are private and are only to be visited by those who have business with the editor. The best way, if people have something to say to an editor, is to write that something down and send it to him. This would save time on both sides and answer a better purpose nine times out of ten than personal interviews.

DOUBTFUL HOLINESS.—The Holiness Association has tabooed croquet. The next step will be to prohibit all kinds of play, as likely to interfere with the peculiar spirituality desired. But that kind of holiness is not the kind mentioned by the inspired prophet who wrote: "Thus saith the Lord: I will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, and it shall be called a city of truth, the mountain of the Lord of hosts the holy mountain, and the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof."—Working Christian.

Healthful Stimulation.

Diffusable stimulants, provided they be absolutely pure, are among the most useful medicinal agents employed by physicians. When the tone of the system is lowered by the depressing influences of disease, or there is an inherent want of vigor in the constitution, they serve to counteract weakening tendencies and cheer the mind of the desponding invalid. But when, as in the case of Hostetter's Bitters, they possess tonic and alterative properties, their effects are rendered permanent, and they accomplish a trebly beneficial result. The Bitters not only relieve nervous debility and mental depression by their healthfully stimulative action, but infuse abiding vigor into the depleted system and rectify those internal disturbances which are the real causes of weakness. The purity and the wholesomeness of the alcoholic basis of the Bitters greatly increases the efficacy of their botanic ingredients, a fact which the completeness of their curative effects sufficiently demonstrates.

LIBERTY

What man is there so bold that he should say
Thus and thus only would I have the sea?
For whether lying calm and beautiful
Clasping the earth in love and throwing back
The smile of Heaven from waves of amethyst
Or whether freshened by the busy winds
It bears the trade and navies of the world
To ends of use or stern activity
Or whether lashed by tempests it gives way
To elemental fury and howls and roars
At all its rocky barriers in wild lust
Of ruin drinks the blood of living things
And strews its wrecks o'er leagues of desolate shore
Always it is the sea and men bow down
Before its vast and varied majesty

And so in vain will timorous men essay
To set the metes and bounds of Liberty
For Freedom is its own eternal law
It makes its own conditions and in storm
Or calm alike fulfills the unerring Will
Let us not then despise it when it lies
Still as a sleeping lion while a swarm
Of gnat-like evils hover round its head
Nor doubt it when in mad disjointed times
It shakes the torch of terror and its cry
Shrills o'er the quaking earth and in the flame
Of riot and war we see its awful form
Rise by the scaffold where the crimson ax
Rings down its grooves the knell of shuddering kings
For always in thine eyes O Liberty
Shines that high light whereby the world is saved
And though thou slay us, we will trust in thee
—John Hay

HUMOROUS

A Covington man died and they put him on ice but he awoke in the night and yelled out, "Why didn't you put some more wood in that stove"

Benjamin Franklin used to spell soap "s-o-p-e," and yet there isn't a day but that some one holds him up as a great philosopher and a good man

It is wonderful what an amount of struggling and red-facedness will be gone through by a person wrestling into a new pair of shoes "a size too large"

A Rhode Island man carries $200 000 life insurance, and if he ever takes cold in the head, the companies rush down three or four doctors to feel his pulse.

The advertisement of a Western stone cutter reads "Those who buy tomb stones from us look with pride and satisfaction upon the graves of their friends"

The talk about the reckless extravagance of the American people, and yet a [illegible] worked all day to clean a 3-cent stamp so that he could use it again

As to the familiar problem—What is home without a mother?—a Brooklyn boy says that it is a very pleasant place provided she leaves the key of the pantry behind her

An individual was about to start a paper in the interest of the glove makers and dealers was rather disgusted at the suggestion that it should be called the Hand-Organ.

St Paul might have qualified his condemnation of matrimony had he lived to learn that a Washingtonian has recovered $3,568 damages from a railway company for the killing of his wife

The quaintest thing of late in baby-talk —A little girl seeing a dog scratching to be let in at an opposite door, promptly knocked at the window and called out, Ing e bell, doggy, ing e bell"

English people are feasting John W Forney because he said that the English girls are the best warblers in the world. When he returns to this country he will swear that he wrote "wabblers"

Hard currency forever—A Pennsylvanian fool fooled with a pistol Ball struck a 5-cent piece in his waistcoat pocket, and took to his boots instead of his vitals A thousand dollars in paper would not have saved him

When Washington buried the hatchet, and advised his countrymen to avoid getting into a [illegible] with foreign powers, he little apprehended that a Massachusetts soap-fat [illegible] would ever so insult Greece as to call his horse "Bo[illegible]ria."

Thomas Caldwell, President of the South Nashville Street Railway, undertook to ride with a new driver the other night telling him in response to the demand for fare, "I own most of this road" and getting this reply "Well, you won't own it long if you don't pay me your fare" That's all I've got to say about it."

An Akron (Ohio) physician tells of a little Akron boy who came to him and said, "Doctor I want some ipecac" "What do you want it for?" "Never mind, just give it to me" "Who sent you here?" "Nobody sent me, I came myself" "I can't let you have it unless you tell me what you are going to do with it" "Well, Doctor, our hired girl swallowed a silver quarter, and she said that if I would give her something that would bring it up, I might have it"

A gentleman was looking into the window of a toy store the other day, when two boys halted, and one remarked "Say Jim don't you wish we had 10 cents to buy a present for our poor lame sister?" Jim replied that he did and the gentleman pulled out a shinplaster and said he was glad to be able to assist them in such a praiseworthy enterprise He met the same boys half an hour afterward and each had his pockets stuffed with pop corn balls —Detroit Free Press

NARY RED'—As the old "red cent" has now passed out of use and except rarely out of sight like the "old oaken bucket" its history is a matter of sufficient interest for preservation The cent was first proposed by Robert Morris the great financier of the Revolution and was named by Jefferson two years after It began to make its appearance from the Mint in 1792 It bore the head of Washington on one side and thirteen links on the other The French Revolution soon created a rage for French ideas in America, which put on the cent instead of the head of Washington the head of the Goddess of Liberty—a French Liberty with neck thrust forward and flowing locks The chain on the reverse side was displaced by the olive wreath of peace but the French liberty was short lived, and so was her portrait on our cent The next head or figure that succeeded this—the staid classic dame with a fillet around her head—came into fashion about thirty or forty years ago and her finely chiseled Grecian features have been but slightly altered by the lapse of time—Philadelphia Ledger

Average California wheat ex warehouse is quoted by latest telegrams from Liverpool at 46s 3d per quarter Oregon ditto 46s 8d Oregon cargoes for prompt shipment are quotable in Liverpool at [illegible] per quarter ditto in Cork 44s The European markets are all reported dull and cargoes for shipment in [illegible] sale

The condition of local monetary affairs since our last weekly review has undergone no important change whatever at [illegible] rates of interest are nominally about as at the opening of the month. The amount of loanable funds in the market is somewhat increased but the general channels of trade are hardly so well supplied and collection day will find the community shorter than usual owing to the dead lock at which business of all kinds has stood during the month

Trade circles exhibit a little more activity to day owing to the clearing out of the river above our city and shipment of merchandise in that direction were lively Two steamers with freight for Harrisburg and points this side left this afternoon and another or more will leave to morrow morning carrying each a fair freight No down shipments except about 5 000 lbs bacon [illegible] 000 bushels wheat, and near 4 000 bushels of oats were received, as but one boat from the upper river has yet reached Portland that is the Beaver from Fairfield with the above freight list There are a good many orders in the market for merchandise principally groceries and boots and shoes for points both to the north and south and the latter will now be filled and shipped at once while the former must wait longer yet though it is hoped not much as all indications are at this writing in favor of an early opening of the Columbia and a consequent revival of business matters in all directions

Our Wheat Surplus and T[illegible]

About the lowest estimate of the surplus wheat crop in our State of the 1874 harvest placed it at 100 000 tons and some fair judges said 25 000 more Since the beginning of the harvest shipments to all ports as we have before stated amount to [illegible] 000 tons of wheat and flour to which if we add the cargoes of the Middlesex, 1,700 tons, and the Hera say 200 tons we have a total shipment for the season to date of 57 400 tons Taking the lowest estimated surplus for the year there would be in the State 4?000 tons which is not according to the best figures obtainable far from correct The question with holders and buyers is whether there will be a scarcity or an excess of tonnage to carry this surplus away As we have always during the season believed we still think that there will be no lack of vessels though the delay in expected arrivals occasions a good deal of vexatious uncertainty With those now in port in the river and due there are enough vessels to carry fully 20 000 tons These will be ready to load during the coming month These loaded will leave [illegible] 000 tons to be shipped after March 1st and must arrive in the English market in the face of what is now expected to be an abundant harvest The number of vessels reported to be due before June will be fully sufficient to carry away the remaining surplus but be [illegible] those not now under charter are taken up there must be very important concessions on the part of the holders of grain or owners of ships as present prices of grain preclude the hope of any margin under the demand of vessels for tonnage and the condition of the foreign wheat markets, some of the vessels and perhaps not a few, will be on the market for charters, as their former engagements will be cancelled by their failure to put in an appearance on time and we see no chance ahead for those ships which decline to accept charters a reduced rates

Shipping Intelligence

The schooner Hera, with a full cargo of produce for San Francisco will sail as soon as the Columbia [illegible]

The last reports from Astoria note the arrival of the British ship Sr[illegible]x and two other vessels names not given at that port. One is possibly the Spirit of the Dawn, and the other may be the Menshikoff

The barks Corsica and Wetterhorn are yet on the market, having failed to effect charters

The British ship Middlesex chartered by parties at Albany to carry wheat to Cork for orders was to have gone to sea on Monday last. Her cargo consists of 56 668 bushels wheat valued at $61 901

The vessels which are quite probable to arrive here as soon as the river below opens are the schooner Dreadnought barks Rival and Menshikoff coasters and the Muriel Corsica Wetterhorn and Willie Reckmers of the grain fleet and the steamer Oriflamme

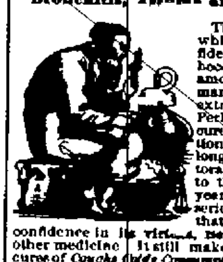
Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping, Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.



The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations must have extraordinary virtues—Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years by a long continued series of marvellous cures that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs Colds Consumption than can be made by medical skill Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members Sickness, suffering and even life is saved by this timely protection The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks,

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY & COLOR

Advancing years, sickness care, disappointment and hereditary predisposition all turn the hair gray and either of them incline it to shed prematurely

Ayer's Hair Vigor by long and extensive use has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately often renews the growth and always surely restores its color when faded or gray It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity and preserves both the hair and its beauty Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy pliable and strengthened lost hair regrows with lively expression falling hair is checked and established thin hair thickens and faded or gray hair resume their original color Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff heals all humors and keeps the scalp cool clean and soft—under which conditions diseases of the scalp are impossible

As a dressing for ladies hair the Vigor is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.
